New to Cruising?

Cruise myths. Busted.

The Haven by Norwegian®, Norwegian Encore

I'll get bored on the ship

With so much to do on board, you'll have to book another cruise just to experience it all! We offer a variety of activities that provide something for everyone to enjoy, such as go-karting, wine tastings, sports, games, arcades, the spa, pools, aqua parks and so much more. Choose from multiple, superb entertainment options each and every night including immersive entertainment, comedy clubs, nightclubs, live bands, karaoke, kids and teen clubs and multiple bars and lounges!

It's too expensive

More At Sea™ gives you the choice to create an all-inclusive holiday according to your preferences and thus keep costs under control. Plus, with diverse worldwide cruises, flexible durations and a range of staterooms, you'll find an itinerary that perfectly suits both your preferences and your budget.

I'll get seasick

Due to the ship's size and the use of stabilizers when needed, you may not even feel that you are moving! However, if it is a concern, you can book a stateroom mid-ship where there is the least movement, and there are many medicinal and natural remedies available.

I'll have to eat with strangers and on a schedule

We offer you the freedom and flexibility of dining when, where and with whomever you want. With a variety of incredible restaurants – up to 20 dining venues – to please any palate, feel free to be a little epicurious and follow your mood, not a schedule.

There will be too many people

Our contemporary ships are designed for comfort and space, giving you plenty of room to roam at sea. From relaxing at the Mandara Spa and reclining poolside to strolling along The Waterfront on select ships and enjoying delicious room service on your own private balcony in your stateroom or Suite, finding your happy place on board is a breeze. Also, Suites in The Haven by Norwegian® offer exclusive access to a private courtyard with pool and their own bar and restaurant on select ships.

I won't get assistance in my language

As our guests come from all over the world, the main language used on board is English. However, on most of our itineraries, we offer multilingual assistance and, whenever possible, we have a multilingual international hostess on board all ships. This service is designed to help our valued guests overcome potential language barriers. For more details of services and languages spoken, visit ncl.com.

Tips for packing.

Packing for your cruise can be both exciting and challenging as you need to be prepared for various activities, climates and environments, right? But don't worry, with a few tips, packing will be a breeze and the question of "what to pack" will become an invitation to consider not only the variety of experiences on board, but also the unique destinations you'll visit along the way.

Clothing

Pack for the destination – whether your destination is warm or crisp and cool, packing layers will be your best bet. Also consider your excursions. Bring along closed-toe comfy shoes for your shore excursions and sports activities.

Dresscode is cruise casual during the day and smart casual in the formal dining rooms and speciality restaurants in the evening. Clothing with offensive language/imagery, tank tops, hoodies, robes, shorts, jeans with holes or rips, and caps/hats are not permitted in the main dining rooms and speciality restaurants. Children under the age of 12 are welcome to wear shorts in all our restaurants. Laundry and dry-cleaning services are available on board. Same day express service is also available.

Electronics

Remember all your tech stuff: tablets, chargers, cameras, travel adapter, etc. All of our ships are equipped with standard 110 and 220 volt AC sockets. On some ships you will also find USB charging ports.

Personal items

Be sure to hand carry any medications or medical equipment you may need along with your passport and travel documents.

Bring a carry on bag

Suitcases arrive at your room later on embarkation day and are collected the last night of your cruise (if you don't opt for self-assist). So don't forget a small overnight bag for carrying any necessary medication, valuables, important documents and need-to-have items.

How many suitcases can I bring on board?

Each guest is allowed two pieces of checked luggage with a 22 kg maximum each. Luggage should be clearly labelled with your name, address and contact number. Luggage tags which you can print at home are included in your eDocs. If you're travelling by air, you need to check with the airline for baggage allowances and restrictions.

What to leave at home

Guests are not allowed to bring on board alcoholic beverages (except for wine and champagne), firearms, weapons of any kind, ammunition, explosive substances, irons, steamers or any goods of a dangerous nature, nor animals of any kind, except service or guide animals.

Wine & champagne

You may bring bottles of wine and champagne on board; however these bottles are subject to a corkage fee (does not apply to guests who have booked a beverage package, e.g. as part of More At Sea™). But remember, alcoholic and soft drinks are included with the Premium Beverage Package as part of More At Sea™.

What to expect on your cruise.

All the anticipation reaches its peak and the day of departure has finally arrived. In this chapter you will find the last tips for the first and last day of your cruise and terms that might be helpful during your travels.

What to expect on your first day?

Arrival and embarkation time

Please allow ample time to travel to your departure airport and ensure sufficient time between landing at the destination airport and departure of the ship for a relaxed start to your holiday. If you have booked a port transfer through NCL, a team member will be waiting at the airport exit to direct you to the bus that will take you to the ship. Make sure you arrive at the terminal at the embarkation time selected during online check-in. All guests must be on board at least 2 hours before departure time. Failure may result in denial of boarding.

Carry-on bag

Be sure to bring a carry-on/backpack (packed with a bathing suit, sunscreen, camera, etc.) so you can enjoy everything the ship has to offer, prior to receiving your luggage later that day.

At the pier

Arrive at the port at your allocated time and porters will take care of your luggage. Stroll into the terminal, clear security (just as you would at an airport) and proceed to the check-in desks, ensuring you have your passport or ID card (if applicable), eDocs and credit card handy. For guests who have not completed online check-in, we recommend arriving to the cruise terminal after 12 pm, and at least two hours prior to the scheduled departure time.

Your Freestyle Card

Once checked in, you'll be given your Freestyle Card, which is also your stateroom keycard, and you will be able to board your ship. Be sure to keep your keycard handy, as you will need it every time you board or disembark the ship during your cruise.

Staterooms

Staterooms are usually ready by midafternoon; however, in the event that your stateroom is not ready upon boarding, take the time to explore your ship or grab some lunch.

Muster drill

Pay attention to the overhead announcements for mandatory tasks or upcoming activities. Before departure, be sure to visit your assigned muster station to familiarise yourself with the location in the event of an emergency.

What to expect on your last day?

The night before

The night before debarking, or the morning of, you will receive your final bill for the cruise. For your convenience, you can review your bill over the course of your holiday on the Norwegian Cruise Line app.

Luggage

You have two options for handling your luggage on debarkation day. You can self-assist, which means you will carry off all your luggage. If you decide to do this, you will need to be able to carry all your luggage down the gangway and through Customs.

Otherwise, you can pack your luggage the night before debarkation and put it outside your stateroom door with the coloured baggage tags provided firmly attached. The crew will collect it during the night, and it will be waiting for you in the terminal the next day. Remember to keep an overnight bag for your personal belongings, travel documents, etc. Once you make your way off the ship, you can collect your luggage and head to Customs.

Customs

In certain destinations, you will be given a Customs Declaration form the night before debarkation which must be completed and handed to the Customs Officer. After Customs, leave the terminal and head to the designated transportation area to get your shuttle to the airport if you have arranged transfers or directly to your vehicle if you parked at the port. There are also taxis readily available.
